"Absentia" Knots
Hold In Court

Bloomburg, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—A war veteran's marriage to a Berwick, Pa., woman by contract in absentia is valid under Pennsylvania law, said Judge C. W. Kreisher.

His ruling was handed down in domestic relations court yesterday on a petition by Mrs. Ruth Everhart that Harry Augustus Everhart be required to support her and two children.

She told the court she signed a contract of marriage in Orange, Texas, March 16, 1944, and that Everhart signed it in New Guinea, May 7, 1944.

"Ruling that marriage without civil or religious ceremony is still valid under common law in Pennsylvania, the jurist said:

"The attitude of the defendant toward his war marriage is not new, as our divorce records for the past few years will readily demonstrate. However, we believe it is our duty legally, socially, and morally to declare this contract established a valid marriage, and that the children born during wedlock are presumed to be legitimate."

Things Of The Soil

Starting Onions In The Spring

There are three sound and practical ways to start onions in the spring—(1) By planting sets in the same manner advised for late fall planting; (2) Use of plants, a somewhat new method; and (3) Sowing seed. For the benefit of beginners and those not fully acquainted with all three practices the following suggestions are offered:

Of course, where sets are used to grow onions, either for use as green onions or for growing the matured bulbs, fall planting is recommended. Not only do fall-planted sets produce earlier green onions for both home use and market, but the task is thus taken out of the rush of early spring duties. However, when fall planting is neglected or postponed, onion sets may be planted in the spring as early as soil permits working. Even late February planting is not unwise if a sunny garden bed can be made ready that early.

The second method is new to many gardeners. Local florists, general stores and farmer supply houses now carry onion plants. In the main these are grown farther south in late winter and offered to northern gardeners as rather small rooted plants, similar to seedlings of tomatoes, cabbage, broccoli and other vegetables of the so-called transplant group.

Onion plants may be set out any time after soil and weather conditions are favorable in early March. Like other forms of onion growth they are not injured by light frosts. But the site should be sunny and well drained to promote early growth. And while it is not generally practiced, there should be no serious obstacles to prevent gardeners in this latitude from sowing onion seed in window boxes, hotbeds or coldframes in early February to grow their own onion plants for March transplanting.

Most commercial onion growers grow their main crops from spring planted seed. This calls for later sowing, always after the soil warms up and is easily worked. It is, of course, suitable only for growing the matured bulbs. Green onions formed from spring sown seed come to edible size at a time when hot, dry mid-summer weather or early summer weather soon renders them tough. And as most gardeners know, the finest green onions are those harvested quite early in the spring while the tender stalks are at their peak of mildness and crispness.

Onion soil for all three methods of culture should be deeply mellow, at least medium fertile and abundantly supplied with moisture-holding organic matter. Well decomposed manure, finely pulverized and worked into the soil to a depth of at least 7 to 8 inches in advance of the planting season, improves most soils for onions. Too, commercial fertilizer is beneficial, worked into the surface soil before planting and applied as side dressings after growth starts.

Green onions are moved toward earlier harvest size by side dressing the rows with nitrate of soda about twice—once when top growth is started uniformly over the bed and again when the shoots are about halfway to edible size. This should be worked carefully into the soil to avoid direct contact with tops, stalks or roots. The recommended complete fertilizer should be somewhere near a 5-10-7 mixture, although a 6-8-6 strength will serve, perhaps proving more beneficial if some phosphoric acid is added.

Garden Hints Worth Remembering

During the long life of a well cared-for bed, asparagus produces more food than any other cultivated crop. Vigorous roots should be planted as early as soil can be easily prepared.

Improved blueberries may be grown as a hedge, providing the soil is kept acid in much the same manner as rhododendron soils are kept acid. At least two varieties should be planted near each other to provide proper cross-pollination. Early March is the best time to set out well rooted nursery plants.

Kentucky bluegrass likes a neutral or alkaline soil; most of the bent grasses thrive on acid soils.

Extra early kohlrabi may be grown by sowing seeds in small pots or bands in a sunny coldframe or hotbed in late February and moving the plants to rows in April.

Hybrid field corn has been proving its merits for several years by vastly increased yields. Now hybrid sweet corn is available, useful and profitable for the same superior yielding traits. Seed must be purchased new every year.

Boysenberries combine flavor and texture of the berries from which they were bred—loganberry, red raspberry and blackberry. The new thornless variety is worth a testing. Set out a few well rooted nursery plants in early spring.

Endive is a delicious addition to the garden greens group. Seed should be sown in a hotbed or coldframe in late March or even around the middle of March and seedlings shifted to growing site in late April.

Following field and sweet corn, popcorn now comes forth as a hybrid. At least one promising named variety is offered this year—Hybrid South American. It is well worth trying. Planting is done in early May, a week to 10 days ahead of field corn.

Gardeners should try a few rows of soybeans among food crops this year. Among the best tested varieties for serving green are Bancel, Giant Green, and Funk Delicious. Giant Green is the earliest of these.

Upper Communities

The senior Girl Scout troop of Biglerville will hold a food sale at Reed's store Saturday afternoon beginning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Chester J. Tyson, Gardner R. D., is spending some time at Westbury, L. I., with her sister, Mrs. Richard C. Carpenter, who recently underwent a major operation.

Miss Barbara Kleinfelter, a student at Susquehanna university, Selinsgrove, and Leo Kleinfelter, a student at Shippensburg State Teachers' college, are spending the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Kleinfelter, of Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. George Routsong, Bendersville, attended a Valentine party held at the Zemo Mosque, Harrisburg, Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wentzel and Miss Marvel Shue, of the Narrows, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warren and daughter, Sylvia Ann, and son, Eddie, Gettysburg, attended the Ice Capades at Hershey Thursday evening.

Donald Wentz, a student at Franklin and Marshall college, Lancaster, is spending the week-end at his home along the Carlisle road.

The Rev. and Mrs. Robert Reiter and daughter, Laurinda, have returned to Newville after spending several days with Mrs. Reiter's mother, Mrs. Warren K. Enck, Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Blair, Quaker Valley, have returned after a month's vacation at Sarasota, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fink and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gelselman, Biglerville, attended a Valentine party at the Zemo Mosque, Harrisburg, Thursday evening.

Soybeans may be planted early in May.

Carrots, beets and peas are among row crops which withstand light frosts without injury. This means they can be started where they are to grow, preferably in early March.

As gardeners know, cucumbers do not permit transplanting. However, they may be started under glass in berry baskets at least four weeks before the last frost and then shifted to their growing hills from the fragile baskets without disturbing the roots. Grow about three or four strong plants to a basket.

Onion plants can be started from seed sown in a hotbed or coldframe this month. Resistant to light frosts, plants can be set out quite early in March. Or small gardeners may buy rooted onion plants from commercial sources.

Sow parsley seed as soon as soil can be prepared. Seed germinates slowly. Thin plants later to stand 6 to 8 inches apart.

Sow at least a small bed or short row of radishes as early as soil permits working. Prepare a deep loam for slender sorts. Try the White Icicle. Grow small round varieties for early production.

Swiss chard is an excellent hot weather substitute for spinach. It is also a fine early and late vegetable. Use the outer leaves as a cooked greens, the tender inner portion in the same way as asparagus.

The new Butternut summer squash promises some immunity to squash vine borer ravages.

GAS LINE BROKEN

SPRINGTIME IS BEST FOR TREE
PLANTING WORK

R. L. Dolton, farm forester, pointed out today: "Most folks do their tree planting in the spring. But a woods planting job takes some advance planning made several months ahead of time."

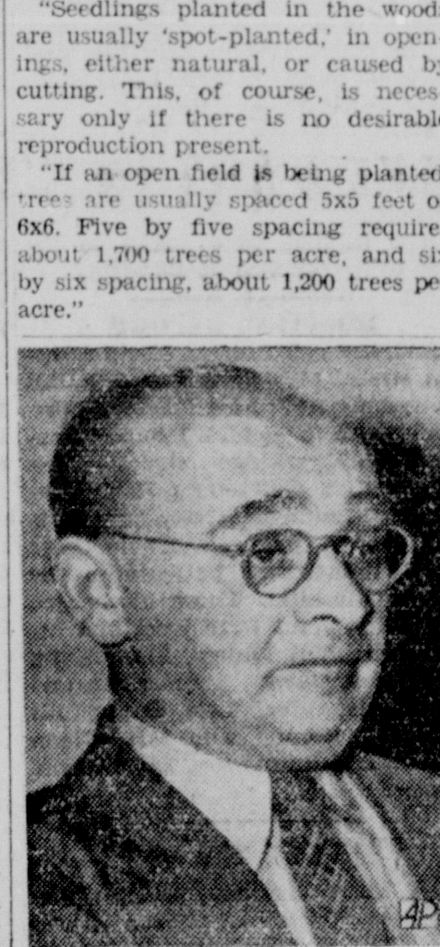

"If you are one of those who have laid plans, and are just waiting for shipment of the tree stock and the right weather, here is some advice that may help you get good results. "Soft woods or evergreens are usually safer to handle for woods planting — one generally gets better survival, and a larger percentage of thrifty trees. Ask your local forester or your county agent what species of soft woods will do best on your land. Then get your order in to the state Forest Nursery at an early date."

Can Be "Bedded In"

"Shipment of the seedlings will be made at the right time of the year. But the nurseryman cannot tell what exact day you will want them. If the seedlings arrive in wet weather, or when there's snow or frost on the ground, or when you can't find time to plant them, then arrange to 'bed them in.' That is, put the roots under earth until you are ready for them. Run a furrow; lay the roots in the trench; then cover them over with soil. This will keep them in good shape for weeks. "When you unwrap seedlings or take them up after bedding them in, put them immediately in a bucket filled with sufficient water to cover the roots. Don't take a chance on their drying out, even for a few minutes."

"Center-hole planting with a hand mattock is generally the easiest, best, and fastest method of large planting. Scrape away the duff and sod. Make a good slit down into the mineral earth, move the mattock back and forth to widen the slit. Put the seedling roots in the earth so they don't clump up or turn up. Then stamp the earth back on place with your heel. A good man can plant 450 to 500 trees — about a half acre — a day."

"Seedlings planted in the woods are usually 'spot-planted,' in openings, either natural, or caused by cutting. This, of course, is necessary only if there is no desirable reproduction present. "If an open field is being planted, trees are usually spaced 5x5 feet or 6x6. Five by five spacing requires about 1,700 trees per acre, and six by six spacing, about 1,200 trees per acre."

Los Angeles, (AP)—Six police officers, answering a radio call of a burglar in a market, followed his trail inside—through a high window and over three milk crates. They found their man, his arms loaded with liquor, but discovered they couldn't retreat the way they came because another policeman, left outside, had driven the combination patrol car and stepladder out of shouting range. And all the doors were padlocked from the outside. They telephoned the owner, who gratefully came down and opened the door.

DISTRICT CAGE PLAYOFFS WILL BE SET FEB. 24

James Neely, chairman, and members of the district committee, District 3, PIAA, will meet with official representatives of the various basketball leagues of the district and the winners, or problematical winners of the respective leagues at Shelley's restaurant, Steelton, on Monday, February 24, at 5:30 p. m. for the purpose of completing plans for the district's basketball play-offs.

The district committee will conduct play-offs in three classifications this year: Class A, for schools whose enrollment is greater than 500; Class B, for schools whose enrollment is between 251 and 500; Class C, for schools whose enrollment is 250 and under.

It will be absolutely necessary for all schools contemplating entering a team in the play-offs to have representatives at this meeting. These representatives shall be prepared to submit a list of approved officials at that time.

District play-offs must be completed by Saturday, March 15. The date of the first play-off will be determined by the number of schools competing and the availability of playing sites. Using the number of teams that competed in 1946 as a criterion, it will be probably necessary to play the first game on Friday, February 28, or Saturday, March 1. The 1946 play-off saw sixteen teams competing in Class B division and eight teams in Class A division.

Play-off Dates

Other play-off dates are as follows:

Wrestling—District meet at Hanover high school, March 8. D. W. Witmer, of Manheim high school, is chairman of the Wrestling committee.

Swimming—District meet at Millersville State Teachers' college, February 28. Charles Bostchel of York high school is chairman of the Swimming committee.

Gymnastics—McCaskey high school of Lancaster, will be the site on March 22. James Neely, chairman.

Volleyball—York or West York high school, March 15. Palmer Poff, of West York high school, will be in charge.

All communications for information on the respective sports are to be addressed to the above named men.

A complete list of the various committee chairmen follows:

Baseball, Landis Brackbill, Millersville; basketball, J. Macley Kelley, Mechanicsburg; cross country, Emanuel Jacobs, Reading; football, Robert J. Beard, Chambersburg; golf, A. O. Brittain, Hershey; gymnastics, James Neely, Lancaster; rifle, Everett Weaver, Neffsville; soccer, C. C. Ruby, North York; swimming, Charles Boeckel, York; tennis, W. L. Aichey, Lancaster; volleyball, Palmer Poff, West York; wrestling, D. W. Witmer, Manheim.

RAY ROBINSON IN BRIBE PROBE

New York, Feb. 14 (P)—Sugar Ray Robinson, the welterweight champion, comes up before the state athletic commission today to explain a different kind of fight offer—$25,000 not to fight—while the district attorney and grand jury widened their probes of boxing in general to new and district territory.

The Harlem Sugar man was summoned to tell his story of a $25,000 bid he received last August not to make the 147-pound weight limit for his title tussle with the then champion Marty Servo as a means of causing cancellation of the bout.

The bout never came off because Servo abdicated the throne and retired from break-busting with an injured nose.

While the athletic commission conducted its inquiry into bribe offers the district attorney's office continued its hunt for undercover managers with criminal or gangster backgrounds who control fighters through "fronts."

It was reported a key figure is one such behind-the-scenes pilot who steers the careers of a number of better-known boxers and who fled to Montreal, it is rumored, about three weeks ago after middleweight title contender Rocky Graziano revealed two $100,000 offers to throw fights.

Caps and New Haven Have Playoff Chance

(By The Associated Press) Indianapolis and New Haven were virtually assured of playoff positions today after jumping into second place in their respective divisions of the American Hockey league.

The Capitals edged the Springfield Indians 4-3 at Indianapolis last night to regain the runner-up spot in the western division, while the Ramblers defeated Providence 2-1 at New Haven to supplant Springfield in second place in the east.

With Hershey and Cleveland at the top, four of the six playoff berths thus are just about filled, and tomorrow's games likely will decide. The third eastern member will be either Springfield or Providence, while the western choice lies between Pittsburgh and Buffalo.

Pirates Would Like To Buy Stan Musial

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14 (P)—The Post-Gazette said today that the Pittsburgh Pirates want to buy Outfielder Stan Musial from the St. Louis Cardinals and are prepared to pay $200,000 or more for him.

Even with that much folding money flying in his face, Cards Owner Sam Breadon rejected a Buc offer, the Post-Gazette said.

Musial, who lives at nearby Donora, Pa., earned about $14,500 last year and is reported asking the Cards $30,000 to sign for the 1947 season.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 14 (P)—Now that Parson Gil Dods apparently has set his sights on the Olympic 5,000 meter race, Dan Ferris already has begun to worry about next week's AAU indoor championship mile.

Dan doesn't see how he can rule out a runner who can do close to 4:20 and besides the guys who have been chasing Dods all season—Tommy Quinn, Les MacMittell, Rune Gustafson, Ed Walsh, etc.—That list now includes Gerry Karver, Penn State, John (Splinter) Flinter, the Manhattan dark horse who did 4:18.7 on a flat floor in the met intercollegiate; Bill Mack of Drake, Clayton Brelsford of Ohio Wesleyan and a flock of other promising youngsters.

Now that Fritz Crisler has taken his name off the California football coaching list, it might be well to mention the report (from a usually reliable source, of course) that northwestern's Lynn Waldorf is definitely interested—if California students can be persuaded to take a calmer attitude toward football.

Kentucky Derby nominations close tomorrow and the price frequently quoted by the late Col. E. R. Bradley—3 to 1 that any horse you name won't start—still holds. You can lay even bigger odds that most sports-writers who nominate themselves for a place in the press box won't make it, either.

After he was flattened by Pat Comiskey the other night, heavyweight Lee Oma complained that a second poured a lot of water into his ear while he lay on the canvas. Would you call that a case of the tank going into a fighter?

DEFENSIVE TACTICS

Headline: "Army to study mine warfare" . . . Well, there's no use letting all those Pennsylvania football players go to other schools.

All but 70 of the 131 players who started the season with teams in the basketball association last November either have been released or traded to other clubs. The coaches have shown just slightly better staying powers. When the University of Oklahoma started its second week of basketball practice, 99 candidates turned out.

"There were so many of them," moaned Coach Jack Baer, "That it took two hours to go one round of hitting practice."

Fulks Tops 1,000 For New Record

Philadelphia, Feb. 14 (P)—Joe Fulks hoisted his scoring record to 1,004 points last night to become the first professional basketball player in modern history to pass the 1,000-mark.

The sharpshooting forward for the Philadelphia Warriors rimmed 18 points to lead his team to victory over the Cleveland Rebels in a basketball Association of America game.

Fulks has scored at least 14 points in each of his last 35 contests. He holds the BAA individual game record of 41 points scored against Toronto. The Murray State (Ky.) Teachers star also paces the circuit in total baskets, total foul conversions and in average per game.

SPORTSMEN AT STATE MEETING

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (P)—More than 200 resolutions, all aimed at improving the commonwealth's hunting and fishing facilities, were up for consideration today at the annual convention of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Pennsylvania.

Highlighting the program will be a plan to develop the educational workshop at Pennsylvania State college. Under this plan teachers are given a two-week summer course at Penn State devoted entirely to subjects dealing with care and propagation of game.

Dale Furst, Jr., of Williamsport, one of the Federation's vice-presidents has been entrusted with the task of drawing up a new fish code for the state, and this code will be up for adoption at the Federation's final meeting tomorrow at the forum of the Education building.

Furst disclosed that under the proposed new fish code the same set-up is being planned for the Fish Commission as now exists for the Game Commission, with eight commissioners in charge of the state's eight districts, and each commissioner responsible for the personnel and activities of his own district.

GREENBERG IS REPORTED IN YANKEE DEAL

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Feb. 14 (P)—Hank Greenberg, who only last Sunday announced he was "considering" retirement from baseball, may yet be an active player this season—with the New York Yankees.

This was learned today from a reliable source, who claimed he "knew" that President Larry MacPhail of the Yankees had sounded out Frank McKinney, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, via telephone to ask Greenberg was for sale.

The informant said MacPhail offered the Pirates more money than they paid to the Detroit club for Greenberg's release. Neither MacPhail nor McKinney could be reached immediately for comment.

Although Greenberg would be the last one to say so, it is no secret that the major leagues' home run king would jump at the chance to play in his home town, New York. He made it rather plain that he would welcome the opportunity to perform with a team of his own choosing when he said the other day, "I feel there is yet much good baseball in me as a player and executive."

New York Attractions

The big fellow is reluctant to play with the Pirates who paid $40,000 to the Tigers for him after the star slugger was waived out of the American league. Big Hank, who wants it known he bears no grudge against the Pirates, is, at 36, independently wealthy and simply doesn't care for the idea of starting all "over again in a new league."

Another reason for Greenberg's desire to play in New York is to satisfy his wife's wishes for him to be with her and their new-born baby as much as possible in the newly-established home here. The former army air force captain married Carol Gimbel, department store heiress, last year.

Whether the Pirates have a price on Greenberg is unknown. Only the other day McKinney was reported to have said that "Greenberg will play for the Pirates or not at all." However, if Hank chooses definite retirement rather than play in the national league, the Pittsburgh prexy may be in a mood to listen to Yankee offers.

Special Movies At Majestic Saturday

The first of a series of six Saturday morning moving picture shows of the "old classics of interest to young boys and girls" will be presented Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The feature attraction will be "The Hoosier Schoolboy" starring Mickey Rooney and Anna Nagel.

Other attractions will include a comedy, cartoon, sport reel and a community sing film.

The series is being inaugurated as an experimental project here under the sponsorship of the Woman's Club of Gettysburg. However, the club will not receive any financial return. It is encouraging the showing of popular films of the time-honored stories that feature youth.

The Woman's Club committee in charge of the project and who will be at the theatre Saturday morning to assist regular ushers include: Mrs. Myron Stearns, chairman, Mrs. Earl Ziegler, Mrs. Elmer Warren, Mrs. Kermit Dearthoff, Mrs. Dwight P. Putnam and Mrs. Henry M. Scharf.

Mothers of children are asked to cooperate with the club committee in making the project a success.

Penn. Pa., Feb. 14 (P)—Fire swept the H. and H. foundry in this Westmoreland county community today, causing damage estimated unofficially at $50,000. A. J. Hamilton, president of the firm, said the blaze apparently started in a workshop of the one-story brick plant.

Newcomers in the circuit include Gettysburg, sponsored by the American Legion, New Oxford and Hanover. Bonneville withdrew from the circuit.

Other league entries include Emmitsburg, Littlestown, Orrtanna, Fairfield, Bendersville, Arendtsville and McSherrystown.

Roy Shanebrook was elected as president of the league with Harry Lerew, Bendersville, vice-president, and John Wetzel, Orrtanna, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided that each team would be allowed to select players from within a 10-mile radius of its community.

A call was made for umpires and applications are asked to be turned into league officers or team representatives.

A committee to draw up a schedule was appointed and includes the following: Clair Worley, Littlestown; Bud Knox, Gettysburg; Melvin Bean, Bendersville, and Don Bream, Gettysburg.

About 30 persons attended the meeting and all teams were represented except Arendtsville.

Another meeting has been called for Thursday evening, February 27, at the Legion home. At that time the number of players to be permitted on rosters will be determined and the schedule discussed.

HIT NEW OIL WELL

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14 (P)—The Plymouth oil company announced it has brought in a new discovery well in Ector county, Texas, which produces 50 to 60 barrels an hour. The firm said it topped the Ellenburger formation at 8,437 feet and penetrated 62 feet into the pay section. Drilling of two offset wells was started. Plymouth said the well was an "important discovery" and expected to be a source of "prolific production."

Berkeley, Calif., Feb. 14 (P)—H. O. "Fritz" Crisler has turned down a tempting offer to take over the head football coaching job at the University of California. The Michigan athletic director's decision to stay on as head man at Ann Arbor was made known Wed. night in a telephone talk with California's acting graduate manager, Brutus Hamilton.

The first missionary to New Zealand, Samuel Marsden, arrived in 1814.

Ross Sachs and Bobby March, former Gettysburg high school cage stars, will be in the lineup of the Gettysburg college team when it meets Lafayette in a Middle Atlantic conference game at Easton Saturday evening. Both have been performing consistently for Coach "Hen" Bream during the campaign. The Bullets lost to Lafayette here on January 18, 46-43 and will have to give one of their finest performances to upset the Leopards.

Special Movies At Majestic Saturday

The first of a series of six Saturday morning moving picture shows of the "old classics of interest to young boys and girls" will be presented Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The feature attraction will be "The Hoosier Schoolboy" starring Mickey Rooney and Anna Nagel.

Other attractions will include a comedy, cartoon, sport reel and a community sing film.

The series is being inaugurated as an experimental project here under the sponsorship of the Woman's Club of Gettysburg. However, the club will not receive any financial return. It is encouraging the showing of popular films of the time-honored stories that feature youth.

The Woman's Club committee in charge of the project and who will be at the theatre Saturday morning to assist regular ushers include: Mrs. Myron Stearns, chairman, Mrs. Earl Ziegler, Mrs. Elmer Warren, Mrs. Kermit Dearthoff, Mrs. Dwight P. Putnam and Mrs. Henry M. Scharf.

Mothers of children are asked to cooperate with the club committee in making the project a success.

Penn. Pa., Feb. 14 (P)—Fire swept the H. and H. foundry in this Westmoreland county community today, causing damage estimated unofficially at $50,000. A. J. Hamilton, president of the firm, said the blaze apparently started in a workshop of the one-story brick plant.

Newcomers in the circuit include

Gettysburg, sponsored by the American Legion, New Oxford and Hanover. Bonneville withdrew from the circuit.

Other league entries include Emmitsburg, Littlestown, Orrtanna, Fairfield, Bendersville, Arendtsville and McSherrystown.

Roy Shanebrook was elected as president of the league with Harry Lerew, Bendersville, vice-president, and John Wetzel, Orrtanna, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided that each team would be allowed to select players from within a 10-mile radius of its community.

A call was made for umpires and applications are asked to be turned into league officers or team representatives.

A committee to draw up a schedule was appointed and includes the following: Clair Worley, Littlestown; Bud Knox, Gettysburg; Melvin Bean, Bendersville, and Don Bream, Gettysburg.

About 30 persons attended the meeting and all teams were represented except Arendtsville.

Another meeting has been called for Thursday evening, February 27, at the Legion home. At that time the number of players to be permitted on rosters will be determined and the schedule discussed.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
OBSERVATION

The riches in Nature are inexhaustible. There is no end to what she presents, teaches, and reveals. Most people merely take her for granted, and so miss most of the joy and revelation that might be theirs. We look at many things, but most of our senses remain dormant until some emotion or unusual event awakens them.

I keep returning to the books of W. H. Hudson, they are so rich in human understanding. His last book, "A Hind in Richmond Park," is one of his finest, though parts of it had to be arranged from copy left at the author's death. In this book the power of observation is illustrated by a man who never seemed to miss anything. He talks about the keen and instantaneous working of the mind of the Hind. Its power of observation, smell, hearing, and instinct. Nothing missed his accurate eye and ear. He had a sense of vision that took in all of life. Sentence by sentence, his entire philosophy of life is unfolded in this book.

There are no artistic designs of man that do not have their origin in some phase of natural creation. Take the snowflake, for example. Or the many leaves, flowers, and colorings of earth and sky. From the rainbow alone we gain every color that we know. And these colors are transcribed in poems and matchless prose in every sunrise and every sunset.

Take any flower or shrub. Note the combination of colors. They are always harmonious. We need but to study them to adapt their perfection to whatever we arrange in our dress or home. Nature is the perfect teacher in design, color, and arrangement. We need merely to observe and copy.

It was St. Augustine who once stated: "Oh Beauty, ever old and ever new." Accurate observation is a continual reminder to us of the glory of this earth and of the endless opportunities that we have to note the significance of all creation, from the tiniest to the greatest of examples, and they are ever before us — if we will but see them, and allow them to enrich us.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Are We All Migrants?"

The Poet of the People
THE GRANDPA TRADE

A grandpa has to learn his trade. He's but a novice at the start. Unto one grandchild can be paid The tributes of his dotting heart. But all to one will never do. The morning after there are two.

Now all the love the one has had With two must equally be shared. No favorite made of girl or lad: Such hurt must little ones be spared. More difficult his task will be When he can boast grandchildren three.

Then as the years go winging by And sons and daughters give him more, He'll find his old heart can supply Quite easily the needs of four. But he must be on guard lest he Let one his favorite grow to be.

Since different their charms must be, And time it takes to know such things, A grandpa has to learn to see The joys each new arrival brings, And love as many as may come, And treat them all to bubble gum.

DUFF SAYS WORK ON HOSPITALS TO BE EXPEDITED

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—Governor Duff, replying to the Pennsylvania economy league's stand on mental hospital appropriations, says "so far as the Commonwealth is concerned, it is a necessary and imperative time to build."

The league had recommended to its membership that appropriations for Duff's $82,000,000 hospital construction program be limited to the work which can actually be done in the next two years.

Duff, however, has asked that the entire amount be provided by the 1947 legislature whether or not all the work can be done within the biennium.

No More Postponements

"So far as I personally am concerned, aid for the mentally ill has been postponed as long as it is going to be postponed," Duff said in a statement to newsmen yesterday.

"If some tremendous disaster occurs as a result of the dangerous overcrowding that now exists in these institutions, it is not going to be on my conscience, because I intend to try to remedy these conditions as rapidly as possible, even if it proves to be more expensive to do so now than it would be later after another delay."

Duff declared that "very nature of the crisis in our mental hospital situation x x x does admit of economy at the price of delay—it demands immediate and progressive action on whatever scale is necessary to correct the present evil conditions."

The Governor again said he had reached no decision on the best way of financing the program and added he was not discussing taxes until "the whole financial picture" is obtained, but when the question of taxes "comes up to meet, I'll meet it."

The hospital program is going ahead, however, "regardless of how it is financed," he added.

Asked about the suggestion of the economy league, which describes itself as a non-partisan, non-profit, citizen organization, that prevention be emphasized in the mental care program, Duff said he would take the best technical advice on that.

He declined, however, to comment on the league's proposal for a cost-of-living bonus for school teachers, saying "I am not ready to make a pronouncement on that."

Fayette Teachers Make Pay Demands

Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—School teachers in three more Fayette county communities have put demands for more money before school board officials.

Spokesmen for Connellsville's 110 teachers advised their school board they wanted $400 annual salary increases and said they did not consider their request in the nature of a bonus or a cost-of-living boost.

Twenty-four Bullskin township instructors asked a $200 bonus for the current term and $300 payment for the next semester, as well as janitor services now lacking.

Sixteen of 22 Jefferson township teachers demanded an unspecified bonus. They were told the budget could not be reopened legally.

VISITS BROTHER IN DEATH CELL

Jerusalem, Feb. 14 (AP)—Mrs. Helen Freidman of Lancaster, Pa., visited her brother, Dov Bela Gruner, in his death cell today but declined to make public the subject or result of her conversation with the condemned man, whose plight has increased Palestine's bitter tension.

Mrs. Freidman, who flew here to try to save her brother from the gallows, said on her arrival yesterday that she would try to convince Gruner that he should make a direct appeal to the Privy Council, British equivalent of the U. S. Supreme court.

Gruner, a member of Irgun Zvai Leumi, Jewish underground organization, was condemned to die after being convicted of participation in a raid on a Ramat Gan police station last May.

At an extraordinary meeting today, the executive committee of the general federation of Jewish Labor (histadruth) declared in a resolution protesting recent large-scale military measures, that through evictions of civilians from their homes and other such acts, economic harm had been caused to many people known to be innocent of membership in or sympathy with any terrorist organization.

In ancient Greece, health was considered one of the highest goods, and disease a great evil that made man inferior.

PROBE STORY WRONG MAN IS SERVING LIFE

Fresno, Calif., Feb. 14 (AP)—Police and FBI agents today checked a story which may prove the wrong man is serving a life term for a killing near a Kansas army camp 32 months ago.

In prison serving life is former Pvt. A. B. Richie, Hickory, N. C., who had successfully appealed from a death sentence for the slaying of Cpl. Pete DeFusco, Uniontown, Pa., near Camp Phillips. And in custody here today was Otho Charles Stockdale, 25, Fresno locomotive fireman, whom Detective Sgt. S. G. Vind quoted as saying:

"He (DeFusco) didn't like the brand of whisky I'd bought, so I hit him. Well, then he seemed to be dead."

Richie, according to this version, was not involved in any way in the death.

President Saved Life

Vind said Stockdale surrendered to police Wednesday and related his story of DeFusco's death—breaking a 32-month silence. While the story is being investigated, Stockdale is held on a charge of failure to possess a draft card.

Vind said Stockdale described DeFusco's death as "just one of those things. . . I stole a jeep . . . drove it out . . . and bought a fifth of Whisky. I got a little tanked up and drove back into camp and picked up this soldier (DeFusco) . . . I don't remember everything that happened but we got to arguing . . ."

The sergeant said Stockdale's conscience hadn't bothered him about Richie's conviction for the death.

Rescue Passengers On Stranded Ship

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 14 (AP) — Passengers, including two stretcher cases, were being removed early today from the Northland transportation company steamship North Sea, which went aground last night near Bella Bella, B. C.

A "ham" radio operator at Vancouver, B. C., picked up messages from the 3,133-ton vessel to Bella Bella harbor authorities saying the ship North Sea had taken off 35 passengers and that several small fishing craft had removed others.

An estimated 85 passengers were believed aboard the ship, plus a crew of 60. The passengers were brought to Bella Bella for the night. It was not known whether the stretcher cases were sick or injured. (Canadian Press reported from Vancouver that the vessel, although taking water rapidly in No. 2 hold, was in no danger of breaking up.) The ship struck on middle reef in Seafarth channel on the inside route to Alaska.

'Quick Change Gang' In Hands Of Police

Philadelphia, Feb. 14 (AP)—Police report that four young men admitted participating in 25 robberies, stick-ups and burglaries in 15 days obtaining loot worth thousands of dollars.

Detective Lieutenant Bart Gorman identified the four, whom he called the "quick change gang," as Louis McCloud, 23; William Roberts, 31; Charles Dempsey, 31; and Joseph Dempsey, 23, all of Philadelphia.

Gorman said the four signed statements admitting the thefts yesterday after three days of questioning.

The "quick change gang" epithet came from the four's habit of changing clothes between stick-ups, Gorman said.

SHY POLITICIANS NOT SHUDDERING AT '48 DREAMS

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—The shy little tune you hear is the song of the possible presidential candidates. It goes:
I didn't say I wouldn't run. I didn't say I would. I mean I've only just begun To hope that, yes, I could.
A lot of Republicans would like to get their mail at the White House for four years after 1948.
But none of them yet has been caught saying so, except Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor.
(On the Democratic side President Truman isn't saying what he'll do in 1948 although it's been said for him.)

Stassen Is First
Stassen is the only Republican who so far has walked out on the chilly, lonely limb and said publicly "I'm a candidate." He said it December 17. The next day Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York had five words to say on the subject. He was Republican candidate in 1944 and there's no widespread feeling he's snub the chance again if he got it in 1948.)

A reporter asked him, "Governor, are you ready to announce your candidacy for president?"
"Certainly not," Dewey said.
"Certainly not ready?"
Dewey said: "Certainly not. Period."

Dewey wasn't shuddering at the thought of being president. He may say a little more before 1948.

Vandenberg Next
Quite a silence settled upon the Republicans after that. It was broken February 8 by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. He said:
"I am not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. I don't expect to be and I have no wish to be. But a man would be entirely numb if he were insensible to the compliment the suggestion implies."

But a statement by Senator Taft of Ohio yesterday really set people to scratching their heads to see if two negatives make a positive.
Taft's Tangle
He said: "I don't intend to deny that I'm not to be a candidate, but again I might not be a candidate."
Meanwhile, Senator Bricker, also of Ohio, was expected to say yesterday that definitely he is not a candidate. But he didn't. Instead, he said he has made no commitments.

And President Truman yesterday had to do some talking because of some tangle.
The Democratic chairman, Robert E. Hannegan, postmaster general, went up to New York a few days ago and said: President Truman's hat is in the ring. He'll be the Democratic candidate for president in 1948.

Mr. Truman knew he was going to be asked about that at his news conference yesterday. He was asked. He had a statement all ready and he read from it. He didn't mention Hannegan, or, directly, what Hannegan said. He didn't say "yes" and he didn't say "no" about being a candidate in 1948. He didn't say anything about being a candidate at all.

He just said he wanted to try to do a good job as president.

Brewery Bottlers Continue With CIO

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14 (AP)—Bottling employees in 12 western Pennsylvania breweries voted almost seven to one in favor of continued representation by the CIO-United Brewery Workers instead of switching to the AFL Teamsters Union but the vote's effect on the jurisdictional dispute raging here remained anyone's guess today.

The National Labor Relations Board announced last night the vote was 1,734 to 259 in favor of the CIO but the AFL union previously had served notice it was ignoring the whole thing. The teamsters objected to balloting on an industry basis and wanted a plant-by-plant poll.

Claims of both unions to represent a majority of bottling house workers—who once switched from AFL representation to CIO—started the "beer war" last October. Bombing followed bombing with damage largely confined to distributing plants of CIO-bottled beer. Windows were broken by tossed bricks and several instances of street scuffling were reported.

Says USSR Worked While U.S. Slept

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 14 (AP)—Paul H. Griffith of Uniontown, Pa., national commander of the American Legion, asserts that "we have been asleep while Russia has been at work selling its ideology to Americans."

Speaking last night to Legionnaires of the seventh district, department of New York, Griffith declared:
"I used to think 'radicalism' was the idea expressed by the other fellow when I found myself in disagreement with him, but what I have been seeing in touring the country has shown me that the new 'radicalism' is Communism."

He added that "the Legion believes free enterprise and the profit system have contributed to making America great and it intends to promote their survival."

EARTH TO THE MOON

Chapter 13
While the contract of this duel was being discussed by the president and the captain—Michel Ardant was resting from the fatigues of his triumph.

Ardant was sleeping, then, when a frightful noise disturbed his dreams. Thundering blows shook his door. "Open the door," some one shrieked, "for heaven's sake!" Ardant saw no reason for complying with a demand so roughly expressed. However, he got up and opened the door just as it was giving way before the blows of this determined visitor. The secretary of the Gun Club burst into the room. A bomb could not have made more noise or have entered the room with less ceremony.

"Last night," cried J. T. Maston, ex abrupto, "our president was publicly insulted during the meeting. He provoked his adversary, who is none other than Captain Nicholl! They are fighting this morning in the wood of Skersnaw. We must prevent this duel, and one man alone has enough influence over Barbicane to stop him, and that man is Michel Ardant."

In less than two minutes, the two friends were making for the suburbs of Tampa Town with rapid strides.

After an hour spent in vain pursuit the two stopped, in intensified anxiety.

"It must be all over," said Maston, discouraged. "A man like Barbicane would not dodge with his enemy, or ensnare him, would not even maneuver!"

"But surely," replied Michel Ardant, "since we entered the wood we should have heard!"

For another hour their search was continued. Ardant was about to propose their abandoning this useless pursuit, when all at once Maston stopped.

"Hush!" said he, "there is some one down there!"
"But can you recognize him?" asked Ardant, whose short sight was of little use to him in such circumstances.

"Captain Nicholl!"
"Nicholl?" cried Michel Ardant, feeling a terrible pang of grief.

"Let us go to him," said Michel Ardant, "and find out the truth."
But he and his companion had barely taken fifty steps, when they paused to examine the captain more attentively.

On seeing him, they remained stupefied.
A net, composed of very fine meshes, hung between two enormous tulip-trees, and in the midst of this snare, with its wings entangled, was a poor little bird, uttering pitiful cries, while it vainly struggled to escape.

Here, then, was Nicholl, his gun on the ground, forgetful of danger, trying if possible to save the victim from its cobweb prison. At last it was accomplished, and the little bird flew joyfully away and disappeared.

Nicholl lovingly watched its flight, when he heard these words pronounced by a voice full of emotion:
"You are indeed a brave man!"

He turned. Michel Ardant was before him, repeating in a different tone:
"And a kindhearted one!"

"Michel Ardant!" cried the captain. "Why are you here?"
"To press your hand, Nicholl, and to prevent you from either killing Barbicane or being killed by him."

"Between President Barbicane and myself," gravely replied Nicholl, "there is a rivalry which the death of one of us—"

"Pooh, pooh!" said Ardant. "Brave fellows like you indeed! You shall not fight. Indeed I have so attractive a proposal to make to the two rivals, that both will be eager to accept it."

"What is it?" asked Nicholl with manifest incredulity.
"Patience!" exclaimed Ardant. "I can only reveal it in the presence of Barbicane."

"Let us go in search of him then!" cried the captain.

The three men started off at once. Another half-hour passed, and the pursuit was still fruitless. Suddenly Maston paused.

The motionless figure of a man leaning against a gigantic catalpa twenty feet off appeared, half-veiled by the foliage.

"It is he!" said Maston.
Barbicane, pencil in hand, was tracing geometrical figures in a memorandum book, while his unloaded rifle lay beside him on the ground.

When Ardant took his hand, he looked up and stared at his visitor in astonishment.
"Ah, it is you!" he cried at last. "I have found it, my friend. I have found it!"

"What?"
"The plan for counteracting the effect of the shock at the departure of the projectile!"

6,000 MINERS QUIT WORK IN 'SYMPATHY'

Lansford, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Six thousand miners today quit work in sympathy with 12 hard coal diggers on a sitdown strike 800 feet below the earth.

The Panther Valley committee of the AFL United Mine Workers voted to halt work beginning with today's first shift in a sympathy move for the coal diggers who are protesting docking of pay. Meanwhile, miners went to work supplying the sitdown strikers with food, blankets, newspapers and other comforts.

"It's going to be a fight to the finish," declared a committee spokesman.

"Not A Joke"
Fifteen miners refused to leave the Lansford workings of the Lehigh Navigation Coal company Wednesday night, but two emerged later, one because of illness and the other because he was a bridegroom and he had promised to help his wife set up a new home.

As for the others, Chairman Fred Gallagher of the Lansford UMW local said "everybody is happy and comfortable, but they are very serious minded. They are not kidding—the average age is 45—and don't think it is a joke."

"The men are huddled together in a mine shanty on the fifth level," he reported. "There is an electric stove in the place. We took them plenty of blankets, newspapers and magazines and other things."

Protest Pay "Dock"
The 1,200 others, working at the colliery refused to go to work yesterday and emptied their lunch pails, lowering enough food to the men to last for several days.

Today's shutdown brings a complete halt to the vast Lehigh Navigation operations at Lansford, Coal-dale, Nesquehoning and Tamaqua.

The 15 men protested what they said was company docking of pay for failure to work a full day. Evan Evans, vice president and general manager of the company, said "no formal grievance has been presented to the company by the group and when this action is taken we shall hear it with a sympathetic attitude."

"Costs must be lowered," he said, "and the only way that can be done is through more production and at least a full day's work by each individual who is paid for a full day's work."

Two License Plates To Be Issued In March

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—Car owners will receive two license plates this year for the first time since 1942, state revenue secretary, David W. Harris, announced today.

Car owners will be permitted to use the new license plates as of March 15 although the new registration year does not begin until April 1, Harris said. The license fee for passenger car is $10.

The Bureau of Motor Vehicles has already begun the task of mailing 2,300,000 registration renewal applications for 1947 to commonwealth car owners, Harris added.

Vets Prefer Dogs To Hollywood Stars

Phoenixville, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Singers, dancers, magicians and Hollywood stars have shown up at Valley Forge General hospital here to entertain wounded veterans—but the G.I.'s will take dogs.

That's what the American Red Cross said today.

The relief agency is naming Tuesday "dog day" and sending 12 canine pets to the hospital each week to romp with the soldiers.

Mary, 18, wandered aimlessly about the West Side before they met an elderly woman who succeeded in learning of their plight.

She took them to a nearby Chinese laundry. The owner, the girls learned, was their cousin, Jim Fong.

TRUMAN FAILS TO TAKE SELF OUT OF RACE

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—President Truman, by the simple act of not taking himself out of the race, appeared today to have closed the door against a build-up for any possible rival for the 1948 Democratic presidential nomination.

Political Washington marked off as more or less expected yesterday the President's indirect refusal yesterday to commit himself on Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan's action in placing Mr. Truman's hat in the 1948 ring.

Saying he had expected some such query, Mr. Truman read to his news conference a statement in which he said that "in view of certain comment regarding the presidency, I wish to say that there has been no change in my attitude since the statement I read to you on November 11, 1946."

In that statement, Mr. Truman had said:
"As President of the United States, I am guided by a simple formula: To do in all cases from day to day, without regard to narrow political considerations, what seems to me to be best for the welfare of all our people."

Politicians generally reacted to this with the observation that while Mr. Truman was proceeding without regard to his own political fortunes, he wasn't leaving much room open for any Democrat to get a foot in the White House door.

Republicans, too, had their almost-but-not-quite candidate in Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Taft told a news conference at Columbus yesterday he is not denying that he may be a candidate for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination. "But, again, I might not be," he added. Taft said it is too soon to discuss that kind of politics with the party's convention 16 months away.

No agreement has been reached with Senator John R. Bricker to withdraw and leave the Ohio favorite son field clear, Taft said, adding that he hadn't "encouraged such talk."

DARK OUTLOOK FOR CONFAB AT MOSCOW

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Unless something happens, the foreign ministers will meet at Moscow March 10 with even less hope of concrete results than when the conference was first scheduled.

For one thing, they are going to have to do themselves a great part of the spadework usually performed at lower levels.

The expected recommendations on the German peace from the four-power administrators in Berlin apparently will be no recommendations at all, consisting primarily of an innocuous report on the history of the occupation. Negotiations there have fallen to the stage where the lie is being passed, and instead of a real report to the council, each delegation will be reporting home blaming the others.

Press Coverage Controversy

The situation in the deputy foreign ministers meeting at London is similar with regard to progress and only slightly more polite. With one more week to run, the deputies haven't even been able to make up a good catalog of the points where they disagree.

They started out with the idea of drawing up a peace for Austria and arriving at recommendations on Germany, but apparently will close without succeeding in either.

The situation is further clouded by the dispute over press coverage in Moscow.

Obvious Russians attempts to impress the Germans with their solidarity for Germany at the expense of the other occupying powers also throw a shadow across the path of the council meeting.

Russian Aims

To offset this, the Americans have been issuing reports about how the Germans hate the Russians, the unhappiness over political and economic conditions in the Russian occupation zone, and the like.

Behind it all lies the apparent fact that Russia has been thwarted in her political program in Germany, and that she has no intention of seeing a German government established until it is on the "right side," which to Russia means the left.

While democracy hasn't made much progress in Germany, communism has received no welcome at all and the Russians can have no hope of success any time soon.

Even with the very best of spirit all round the Moscow meeting could hardly have been expected to do more than lay a foundation. The question now is whether even that can be made anyways solid.

FOXES, HUNTERS TO MATCH WITS

Ligonier, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Foxes and hunters will match wits here again on March 8—with the odds favoring the animals if the result of last year's encounter in Ligonier's mass hunt is to be taken as a criterion.

In 1946, all foxes but one lone, bedraggled and tired old veteran escaped through a ring of hunters who formed a 13 1/2 mile circle.

This year, the hunt sponsors say, enough reservations are being received to cover 150 square miles of territory. The hunters will again form a circle and beat their way inward, closing the circle and forcing the foxes into an ever-increasingly smaller area. The hunters will close in, killing foxes as they go until none are left alive—or have slipped through to freedom and a chance to compete in the 1948 contest.

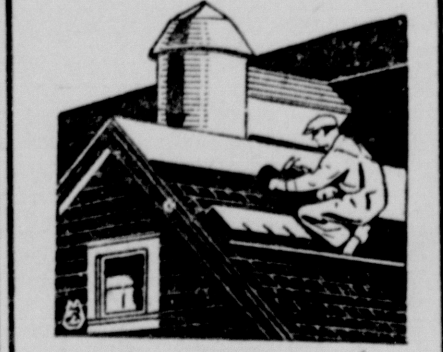

The hunts were revived after a century's lapse because the predatory fox had so increased in numbers that many farmers' chickens were disappearing. The hunt has the blessing of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Browned-Out, Shivering Britain Faces Threat Of Widespread Cuts In Gas

NEW SACRIFICES LOOM FOR FIFTH DAY OF CRISIS

London, Feb. 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee and his "coal cabinet" sought today to fix an approximate date for ending the industrial shutdown in Britain.

The Coal Cabinet conference was the first indication for the island's 49,000,000 browned-out and shivering inhabitants that the end of the fuel crisis might be in sight.

As drastic electricity restrictions were maintained into the fifth day, government sources said the return to normal might be gradual. A source close to the Prime Minister's office said an important statement on the situation probably would be issued tonight.

By ROBERT HEWETT

London, Feb. 14 (AP)—Browned-out, shivering Britain faced a threat of widespread gas cuts today as the next sacrifice to combat a coal shortage which has led the nation to the brink of disaster.

As the island's 49,000,000 residents entered their fifth day under drastic electricity restriction with slight gains in the coal stocks at power stations, the British gas council alerted the country's 1,100 gas plants to be ready to shut off gas supplies to non-essential industries.

The special nine-man "coal cabinet," headed by Prime Minister Attlee, scheduled a meeting with gas company executives today to discuss the problem.

The Labor party organ, the Daily Herald, proclaimed in front page headlines that a gas cut was likely in a few days.

Attlee reported to Parliament yesterday that the coal situation was "still critical despite the breaking of the snow and ice blockade by ships and trains carrying fuel to London and other metropolitan areas."

The Prime Minister said low coal stocks at gas plants are "giving cause of anxiety." The gas council shortly afterward announced that all gas plants were being warned to plan for the possibility of shutting off service to all industrial and commercial consumers except those "engaged in essential services or continuous process operations."

Measures Save Coal

Attlee told the House of Commons that 78,000 tons of coal had been saved as a result of the first three days' restrictions on electricity. Since Monday factories in a 38-county industrial area of England and Wales have been shut down. Householders in that area have been forbidden to use any electric power during five daylight hours in each day. The latter ban was extended yesterday to all of England, Scotland and Wales.

Authorities reported, however, that compliance with the household ban was still "not so good" despite threats of heavy penalties.

Thirty-seven coal ships carrying more than 60,000 tons of coal beat their way through icy channel gales to London yesterday and the movement of snowbound coal trains in northern England and the Midlands was speeded by the labor of thousands of railway workers, soldiers and German prisoners working around the clock.

One collier, identified as the 642-ton Ary, of Panamanian registry, was reported to have floundered and sunk off the Irish coast while carrying coal from Wales to Eire. Sixteen

ELLIS PARKER IS PARDONED

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 14 (AP)—Ellis H. Parker, Jr., who served three years in a federal prison on a charge of conspiracy to kidnap as an aftermath of the famous Lindbergh case has received a "full and unconditional" presidential pardon, he said last night.

Parker, and his father, a former Burlington county detective chief were convicted of conspiracy to kidnap Arthur H. Wendel, former Trenton attorney, and attempting to force from him a confession to the kidnapping of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. They testified they were attempting to solve the case.

The elder Parker died in the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., where the son served the bulk of his

of her 17 crew members were reported missing.

Freezing weather continued to grip most of Britain and Viscount Addison, government leader in the House of Lords, informed Parliament last night that it was impossible to forecast when the power restrictions would be lifted.

three years. He was released from the federal detention home in Brooklyn, in 1941, where he had been transferred and since that time has been managing a hardware store in nearby Hamilton township. His home is in Mount Holly.

Parker said he had made application a year ago for the pardon and that it arrived a few days ago, dated January 30 and signed by President Truman.

NO EXTRA TAXES FOR ROAD WORK, GROUP STATES

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—No additional taxes will be necessary to complete "all highway work which will be undertaken" in the next two years, a joint Senate-House budget committee has reported.

The committee, in a report to Governor Duff, warned, however, that the state Highways department indicated funds will not be sufficient in the following years to complete the postwar construction program to which the commonwealth has already committed itself.

The committee submitted data, showing that the motor fund will have a balance on June 1 next, of $98,000,000 of which $25,000,000 will be committed.

Governor Silent

It also estimated that receipts in the 1947-49 biennium will total $248,000,000 against $196,000,000 in the current fiscal period, explaining the difference is due to an increase in federal aid and increased yields from gasoline taxes and license fees.

Governor Duff withheld comment when asked if the expected dearth of funds available for highway construction in future years would cause a revision in present estimates which he said are based on offers from contractors received last fall.

Asked if the present emergency one cent tax on gasoline will be continued after May 31, he said there was not any question as to that.

SEES HOLIDAY ON GAS APPLIANCES

Pittsburgh, Feb. 14 (AP)—Restoration of gas service following repairs to a broken pipe line today sent western Pennsylvania employment climbing with nearly all the district's 50,000 idle slated to be back at work by tonight.

Repairs to the pipeline which broke near Charleston, W. Va., allowed the Peoples Natural Gas company to resume service at 75 per cent of normal to its more than 150 industrial customers late yesterday.

The Manufacturers Light and Heat company, whose industrial service had been at 50 per cent of normal as a result of the recent cold wave, reported supplies were now at 75 per cent and continuing to improve. The other major gas company, equitable, restored 100 per cent service Wednesday.

Subsidiaries of the U. S. Steel Corp. reported a steady stream of furloughed workers reporting back on the job. Allegheny Ludlum Steel Corp. said its 1,200 temporarily idle employees would all be back by this evening.

Meanwhile, Raymond Little, general sales manager for Equitable, predicted that a national holiday for a year on the sale of gas heating appliances would be necessary, except for new home construction. He said it would take that long for the industry to get required pipe and material.

WARNS FALLING PRICES PRECEDE RECESSION ERA

Harrisburg, Feb. 14 (AP)—Putting farmers at the bottom of the economic ladder by lowering food prices, will "bring trouble for the entire nation," declared H. H. Rathbun, president of the Dairymen's league cooperative.

Asserting there is "a great clamor" on the part of the public for lower food prices, Rathbun told members of the Pennsylvania association of cooperative organizations last night, that a drop in prices will be felt "in the national pocketbook and in the national stomach," adding:

"Falling farm prices have always preceded general business recession."

Change of Name

The association, holding its semi-annual meeting here yesterday, adopted a resolution, calling for free operation of the law of supply and demand, declaring "we do not believe that a government controlled economy and democracy can long exist side by side."

J. M. McConnell, general manager of the G. L. F. exchange, said "conversion of our main raw material—grass and hay—into human food is the main job of our agriculture."

He described the market area supplied by Pennsylvania farmers as "the best in the world from the standpoint of purchasing power and

Captain Johnson Is Granted Leave

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 14 (AP)—Capt. Albert W. Johnson, Jr., one of six defendants, including his two brothers and father, former Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson, Lewisburg, charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the United States, has been granted a leave of absence from the army in the Philippines and is expected in this city "within the next several days."

Federal Judge James Alger Fee, Oregon, specially assigned here, was informed in court Thursday.

Judge Fee held a session of court today to hear motions filed by the Johnsons to dismiss the indictments. Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, Pittsburgh, chief counsel for the Johnsons, told the court about the leave granted to Captain Johnson. Court had been informed some time ago that Johnson had been refused a leave.

CHANGE RULES ON BISON HUNT

Rawlins, Wyo., Feb. 14 (AP)—Cries of "brutality" aimed at Wyoming's first one-shot buffalo hunt resulted today in a last-minute rule change which the assembly archers declared would guarantee "clean kills" of the three bulls slated for bow-and-arrow deaths.

Under the original rules, the archers, armed with 60-pound bows and standard broad-head arrows, would have lined up at 75 yards distance and fired one shot each until the bulls were brought down.

At a mass meeting last night, called in response to newspaper charges that the hunt would be "nothing short of murder," the archers voted to stalk the bulls and fire at point-blank range if possible to assure quick executions.

The vote was taken after Roy Hoff of Los Angeles, editor of "Archery" magazine and 1945 National Bow Champion, asserted that "I cannot call my shots at 75 yards."

"Peppering these animals with arrows would cause a spectacle repulsive to the public," Hoff said. "Our idea is to stalk the wild buffalo in his natural habitat. We want to give the bull his chance and the archer the opportunity to make a clean kill."

News Briefs

Washington, Feb. 14 (AP)—President Truman said today that the United States is ready to do everything within its power to relieve the plight of the British people in their present fuel emergency.

In a statement, Mr. Truman said it may be possible to divert to Great Britain a number of colliers at sea in the vicinity of the British Isles now carrying coal to other European countries. The President's statement said it would take a minimum of 15 days to ship coal from this country to England. Such shipments might very well arrive too late to help England in the present emergency.

Los Angeles, Feb. 14 (AP)—Northrop Aircraft disclosed today that America's first military rocket plane—perhaps the world's first—was flown from isolated Harper dry lake on the desert July 5, 1944, and then was placed on the army's list of top secrets. The craft, the MX-324, was a flying wing type with only a 30-foot span and embodied the "prone cockpit" wherein the pilot lay flat on his stomach to withstand the buffeting of far more violent maneuvers than were possible in a conventionally-powered plane, Northrop said.

Los Angeles, Feb. 13 (AP)—Edward G. Robinson, movie bad man, began a race with death to the bedside of his mother in New York early today. Robinson departed at 2:55 a. m. Robinson, whose real name is Emanuel Goldenberg, said he was notified last night that she was near death from the infirmities of old age.

WASTED SYMPATHY

Detroit, (AP)—Even a live duck can stand plenty of refrigeration, a conservation official told solicitous Detroiters today.

Isaac Peabody suggested residents living near the Detroit river were wasting their time excitedly telephoning the River Conservation Department that "there's a little duck out here whose bottom is frozen in the water."

Peabody explained: "A duck can stand zero weather. Leave him alone and he'll melt his way out of an iceberg. It's the tender-hearted people who go out with ice picks and steaming teakettles who are hurting the little ducks—breaking their legs and wings."

News Items From Littlestown

Robert L. Mehring, One Of First Rural Carriers, Recalls Early Experiences

Conditions were a little different 43 years ago when Robert L. Mehring, Lumber street, Littlestown, began work as a rural carrier for the Littlestown post office, the retired carrier recalls.

He started only seven years after the establishment of the rural free delivery system in the United States and served for 30 years as a carrier out of Littlestown. He is one of the two living retired carriers from the Littlestown post office. The other rural carrier who retired after over 30 years of service, is Austin Staley, Hanover.

Staley almost lost his life while carrying the mail from Littlestown during the early days of the service. A flash flood caused a bridge to give way as he was crossing a stream. Staley's horse and buggy were swept downstream and Staley was pulled out by a rope thrown by a chance passerby.

$500 Starting Salary
In 1903, three years after the rural mail routes were first established in Adams county, there were five routes out of the Littlestown post office. Mehring was hired to take Route 5, which was opened to take care of farmers lying mostly across the border in Maryland.

Carriers on the other four routes were Samuel Rebert, John Ridenbaugh, George Conover and Austin Staley when Mehring started with the post office. In addition John Foreman came up daily from Westminster with mail from that post office for Littlestown and supplied some of the patrons along the route into Littlestown.

Mehring started at a salary of $500 a year. Out of that he had to provide for a wagon and horses and any other equipment he might need.

Now Two Routes
Sometimes, for seven straight weeks, he recalls, he would use a sleigh during the winter months. The winters today, he told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times, are nothing compared to the "good old days" when snow descended in great quantities and remained most of the winter.

When using the sleigh he would usually follow the custom of mailmen of that day of ignoring the roads and driving through the fields. As he would come to another field it was simple to leap out of the sleigh, open the bars and go on to the next house.

By 1934, when Mehring retired, there were only four routes. He retired when the four were consolidated into two routes. Charles Frock, who has been a carrier since 1921, and Kenneth Kroh, who has been a carrier since about 1938, now carry those two routes. Frock has R. 1, which extends 57.09 miles and includes everything west of the Gettysburg pike as far over as Barlow and down to Black's Corner, in Maryland. He serves 282 boxes along his route.

From Horses To Autos
Kroh, with Route 2, travels 52.60 miles, traveling along the section east of the Gettysburg pike and including Two Taverns and White Hall. He has 313 boxes on his route. Mehring says today he cannot recall how many horses he wore out during his 30 years as a rural mailman. In addition he used Model T's and Model A's to cover the route.

During the first years in which cars were used the auto was an aid during the summer months while the horse remained the faithful companion of the winter seasons. With dirt roads the only type known, the mud and snow of spring and summer were practically impassable by car. Sometimes even the buggy was unable to make the trip and then the saddle went on the horse and the mail went into saddle bags and the trip was completed much as in the very early days of the postal service.

The Mail Went Through
The daily trips were more likely to be interrupted by bad or unpleasant happenings before the day of the good road and the more modern cars.

Mehring had several horses break legs while enroute. Then it was a case of borrowing a horse from the nearest farmer or, when telephones were available, calling home and asking someone to come out with another horse. In either case the mail got through.

"I wouldn't want to go through it again," Mehring adds in recalling the difficulties of the carriers.

His first route was 25½ miles in length and there were 150 boxes along the way.

He used to leave at 10:30 o'clock in the morning and "if the weather and roads were good I got back about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. When roads were bad, storms came up or some similar event occurred, then it might be 6 or 7 o'clock or much later in the evening or night before one could get back to the office."

Many Perils On Route
There were rain storms, snow storms, sleet and blizzards to contend with and the amount of heat in a wagon was dependent upon the heat outside.

And there were plenty of dangers from floods. With no modern roads and the bridges mostly of more or less temporary construction the rural carrier took his life in his hands when he went about this route in long rainy periods, or after heavy storms.

Mehring remembers one trip when the waters came up and he found a bridge covered with water. "I didn't figure it was very deep and started across," the retired Littlestown carrier recalls, "the next thing I knew the wagon was wedged in between the bridge and a fence and the horse was out in the stream." Farmers living near the stream noticed his predicament and were able to pull the wagon and horse out and the misadventure turned out all right.

Paul Wistosey, substituting for John Ridenbaugh one spring, had a little more difficulty with high waters. Attempting to cross a flooded bridge, over the Conewago creek, his wagon swept off the bridge and was broken up in the roaring waters of the stream. The horse swam away, the mail sacks went tumbling down the stream and Wistosey barely made it to a tree. Crawling up in the tree he held himself in the branches for the remainder of the day and part of the night before a rescue party was able to locate him and get him out of his predicament.

The business of the rural carrier, which at first consisted mostly of taking a few newspapers and letters to the farmers on his route and returning with the small amount of mail sent by the patrons rapidly increased as the years went by. Individuals began to send more letters and receive more replies. The mail order business increased tremendously. During the earlier days there was one advantage, Mehring points out, the size of the packages that could be sent was smaller than now.

"Traveling Post office"
Mehring served under six postmasters, Luther Allemen, who was postmaster in 1903 when the carrier began his work; Dr. C. P. Gettier, Elmer Buckley, Emory Collins, Robert Wilson and Lawrence Pink.

When he started the post office was located where Bowman's store is now. Later it moved to the Spangler property near the present day Hollinger's store and then it was moved to the present location in the P. O. S. of A. building.

A traveling post office in himself.

BROWNIE ACTIVITIES

The Brownie Girl Scout troop, its leaders and the troop committee, were guests at the Regent theatre at Saturday's matinee. Following the movie, refreshments were enjoyed at Bankert's restaurant. During their regular meeting Tuesday evening, the Brownies observed St. Valentine's Day with a play, "The Queen of Hearts," several recitations, and an exchange of valentines.

Mehring, like every carrier, started out in the morning with $5 worth of stamps and all equipment needed for such things as registered mail, insuring packages and the like. Enroute he would handle all problems of a postal nature that his patrons might have "and a lot of other things too. The rural carrier becomes an institution and likes to help his patrons if they need information that he can obtain."

The original Route 5 for which Mehring was hired by the post office later became Route 4 and additional territory added to it. The Route 5 tour went out the Baltimore pike, around through Maryland and back in the Gettysburg pike.

The law governing the present design of the United States Flag was passed in 1818.

COMMUNITY GAVE $928.11 IN POLIO DRIVE

Littlestown is "number one" in the Infantile Paralysis fund drive in Adams county. A total of $928.11 was turned in from Littlestown. There were 69 organization and business sponsors and 10 individual sponsors.

At a dinner given by Mr. M. D. DeTar, president of the Adams County Infantile Paralysis committee, for the workers in each community, Littlestown contributors were lauded for their generosity and spontaneous response to this appeal for funds. The management of the Regent theater was congratulated for cooperating by taking up collections, in spite of the fact that many other theaters refused to cooperate this year.

Mr. DeTar explained the distribution of these funds: 50 per cent goes to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and 50 per cent stays in Adams county. He reported that all cases which are reported to the committee are given immediate attention and that they are following a very liberal policy in extending aid to victims of poliomyelitis. This is possible because of a large reserve due to the few requests for aid last year and the generous and universal response.

Fred Pfeiffer, treasurer of the committee, reported a balance of over $3,000, before receiving this year's contributions.

Other Sponsors

Mrs. Joseph Codori, chairman of the committee and of the Infantile Paralysis fund party, announced that almost $3,000 has been collected this year, and that all receipts are not yet in.

May Take Palestine Question Before UN

Philadelphia, Feb. 14 (P)—Vigorously attacking terrorism in Palestine, the American Council for Judaism today sought presidential action to bring the Palestine issue before the United Nations.

The council called upon President Truman and the United States to bring the issue squarely before the international body and to assure that "equal rights and responsibilities" be guaranteed to all in the Holy Land.

Winding up the two-day session of its third annual conference, the council last night also asked the president to assume a leading role in providing homes for displaced persons. Mr. Truman must "persevere in these efforts to the end that Congress pass legislation" which would admit thousands of Jews to this country.

sylvania, and his wife were also guests of Mr. DeTar at the dinner. Mr. Jones explained how the funds that the National Foundation receives are used. Most of it is allocated to a Research fund and to an Epidemic Aid fund, to be drawn upon in localities where the case-load exceeds the local committee's ability to extend adequate aid. It was under one of the research fund's grants the recent progress was made in isolating an almost pure poliomyelitis virus.

Mrs. Charles W. Weikert, chairman of the Littlestown drive attended the dinner. Mrs. Weikert today listed the following sponsors not included in the two lists previously published: Ever Faithful Sunday school class, St. John's Lutheran Sunday school, St. Aloysius' school, Youth Fellowship of Redeemer's Reformed church, Alpha fire company, employees of Strouse-Baer company, Millie's Beauty shop, Gelsler's Furniture company and Birnie Shriner.

OLDEST WOMAN IN PA. IS 107

Youngville, Pa., Feb. 14 (P)—Mrs. Sarah McCormick, who was born on Valentine's Day 107 years ago and has outlived her children, passed a quiet birthday today. She is too feeble to take part in any sort of celebration.

As on most other days, she spent the larger part of her time seated in a comfortable chair in the living room at the home of her grandson's widow, Mrs. Josephine Rowland. A plump old dog, Mrs. McCormick's constant companion, lay at her feet.

The oldest woman in Northwest Pennsylvania, Mrs. McCormick is virtually blind and deaf. She suffered a severe illness last spring with partial paralysis and loss of speech resulting.

"She recovered amazingly," said Mrs. Rowland. "Even the doctor was surprised when she regained use of her limbs and speech."

"She gets around the house and dresses herself. She hasn't read in 20 years but she can distinguish lights and shadows. She clings to the house and hasn't wanted to go out for three or four years."

Mrs. McCormick came to America about 100 years ago and has lived 40 years in this Warren county community. Before that she lived in Tidioute, in the same county. Her husband, a former Tidioute lumberman and farmer, died 43 years ago.
